WHERE WOMEN ONCE VOTED—When the District of Columbia Suffrage bill was pending in the United States Senate recently, Senator Cowan, of Pennsylvania, offered an amendment extending the elective franchise to females. In the course of the debate on this proposition, inquiry was made of Senator Frelinghuysen whether women ever voted in New Jersey. The reply was that they did once vote in that State. The N Y Tribune publishes the facts in detail, as follows

In 1776 the original State Constitution conferred the franchise on all inhabitants (men or women, white or black, possessing the prescribed qualifications of £50 clear estate and twelve months residence. And this Constitution remained in force until 1844. In 1790 the Legislature in an act regulating elections, used the words "he or she" in reference to voters. In the same year 1790, seventy five women voted in Elizabethtown for the Federal candidate. In 1800 women generally voted throughout the State in the Presidential contest between Jefferson and Adams. In 1802 a member of the Legislature from Hunterdon county was actually elected, in a closely contested election, by the votes of two or three women of color. In 1807 at a local election in Essex county, for the location of the county seat men and women generally participated, and were jointly implicated in extensive frauds. In the winter of 1807 8, the Legislature in violation of the terms of the Constitution passed an act restricting suffrage to free, white, male, adult citizens, and in reference to these virtually abolished the property qualification of £50, thus extending it to all white male tax payers while excluding all women and negroes. In 1820 the same provisions were repeated—and remained unchanged until the adoption of the present Constitution in 1844

It thus appears that women and negroes possessed and exercised the right unquestioned under the Constitution of New Jersey from 1776 to 1807, thirty one years, and that from 1807 until 1844, they possessed the right, but were arbitrarily deprived of its existence thirty seven years more. This is, we believe, a fact unparalleled in the political history of the world, and was probably due to the strong Quaker influence in West Jersey, then, as usual, exerted in behalf of Equal Rights. New Jersey enjoys, we believe, the distinction of having been the first State which conferred upon all its citizens equal political privileges, without restriction of sex or color

CONDITION AND PROGRESS OF THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD—The Government Directors of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, Messrs George Ashmun, of Massachusetts, Jesse L Williams, of Indiana, Charles T Sherman of Ohio T J Carter, of Illinois, and Springer Harbaugh, of Pennsylvania, were in session several days recently in Washington City. They had several interviews with the Secretary of the Interior and the President, and made reports of the condition and progress of the work during the past season and the probable operations of the present year. It appears that there are 305 miles of the road finished and in operation that it is sufficiently stocked with locomotives, passenger and freight cars, and amply supplied with machine shops depots and water stations

The present terminus of the road is at a point a few miles west of the forks of the Great Platte river. The line is definitely located up the Lodge Pole creek to the foot of the Black Hills, then through Evans' Pass to the Laramie, a further distance of near 300 miles, which it is contemplated to build during the present year. This new route will pass about 100 miles north of Denver, which place the Company propose to reach by a branch road. It is confidently expected that by the first of January next the locomotive will penetrate and cross the most difficult range of the Rocky mountains at an elevation of over 7,000 feet above tide water, and reach Laramie river, a distance of 600 miles from Omaha. The Mutual Pass on the Missouri river will soon be open, contracts are now being matured to effect that object

HIGH PRICES FOR ANTIQUITIES—The Nouvelliste, of Rouen, publishes a curious list of prices which certain articles of no intrinsic value have attained in consequence of having been worn or possessed by historic personages

The ivory chair which was presented to Gustavus Vasa by the city of Lubec was sold by auction, in 1825, and knocked down to a chamberlain of the King of Sweden, who bid 48 000 florins (£6,000) for it. The coat worn by Charles XII at the battle of Pultowa was preserved by Colonel Rosen, who followed the king to Bender. This was afterwards sold for £22 000 at Edinburgh. Abbe Tersan gave a fabulous price for a pair of dancing shoes worn by Louis XIV at one of the ballets in which he himself took a part during the early part of his reign. When the bodies of Heloise and Abelard were removed to the Petits Augustins, an English gentleman, offered £4,000 for one of Heloise's teeth. Yet the great philosopher Descartes' skull, put up for auction at the Scarman's sale, 1820, fetched but £4 the wig of Kant but £8, and the cane of Voltaire £20 but a waistcoat of John Jacques Rousseau fetched 350f. Thirty eight pounds for an old waistcoat is not a bad price. The hat worn by Napoleon at Eylau brought 1,920f at a recent sale.

ORIGIN OF ANTHRACITE.—Dr Percy, F R S, in his tenth lecture on Chemical Geology—after describing an experiment of Daubree, who subjected fragments of fir wood, in a close tube with water, to a high temperature and pressure, and thus transformed the wood into a black mass having a bright luster and resembling anthracite—proceeds to say

It has long been supposed that bituminous coal is converted into anthracite simply by application of heat, but something more than this is required to satisfy the conditions, for if it were simply a matter of heat we ought to get, not anthracite, but coke, also a proportionate increase in the quantity of fixed organic matter or ash, in the coal. It seems to him there must have been some other condition obtaining in order to account for the conversion of bituminous coal into anthracite. He believed that water played an important part in this conversion that anthracite has been the result of thermo hydric or hydro thermic action and that water has in some way or other removed to a large extent the inorganic matter or ash

THE AVITOR—The San Francisco Times says

This aerial steam navigation machine is nearly ready to make its pioneer voyage through space. It is being fitted out at Shell Mound Park. This strange looking apparatus is of mammoth proportions, being twenty seven feet deep and eighty feet in length. Several thousand dollars have been expended in its construction, and its projectors are confident they can make a raise out of it. The elevating power is gained by an apparatus which generates hydrogen in quantities to suit. Its propelling power is produced by a steam engine of a peculiar structure. The engine, boiler and tank of water weigh about 750 pounds. The fuel to be used is charcoal. With provisions, passengers and fixings the whole machine will weigh upwards of a ton—a heavier load than was ever attempted to be raised by gas. The steering apparatus is a huge sort of fan, moved by a long lever which sweeps it from side to side. A trial trip is expected to be made in a day or two. Should the experiment prove successful, the proprietors of the "Avitor" will be hailed as benefactors to mankind, if they fail, they will be derided as visionaries

COURAGE REQUIRED—The following true and eloquent passage is from a late speech of Thaddeus Stevens

"There are periods in the history of nations when statesmen can make themselves names for posterity, but such occasions are never improved by cowards. In the acquisition of true fame courage is just as necessary in the civilian as in the military hero. In the Reformation there were men engaged as able and perhaps more learned than Luther. Melancthon and others were ripe scholars and sincere reformers, but none of them had Luther's courage. He alone was willing to go where duty called though devils were as thick as the tiles on the houses' And Luther is the great luminary of the Reformation, around whom the others revolve as satellites and shine only by his light. We may not aspire to fame. But great events fix the eyes of history on small objects and magnify their meanness. Let us, at least, escape that condition "

The District Suffrage Vote

[From the N Y Tribune]

Notwithstanding [illegible] it is clear that the general current of human affairs sets strongly toward Democracy or the further diffusion and distribution of political power. However ardently we may deprecate this—as many notoriously and loudly do deprecate it—we know no one who disputes the fact. The establishment of Universal Suffrage in France by the blood stained usurper who last seized her by the throat—its employment to sanction the transfer, first of Savoy to France then of Venetia and the Quadrilateral to Italy—the deference just shown to it by the aristocratic despot Bismarck—all these and many more such, combine to prove that the people must and will vote on public questions vitally affecting their rights and their general well being. We must destroy our steam printing presses pull down our telegraph wires and tear up our railroads if this unmistakable tendency is to be resisted

"No taxation without representation" is the war cry under which the President and his supporters demand a speedy recognition by Congress of the right of the States lately in rebellion to self government and participation in the National councils. And they are right as to the principle, if not as to its application. In a republic, those who uphold the State must have a voice in its government. Any exception to this rule is anomalous and must, in the nature of things be temporary. "The stars in their courses" beam a smile of approval on every effort to establish governments for the people by the people "

President Johnson professes to be a Democrat. He has been made "an Alderman a Mayor a Legislator a Member of Congress Governor U S Senator, Vice President and President," by virtue of such cheap and profitable professions. Yet when brought to the test, it seems that his notion of the people contemplates only those already enfranchised. "The people" of the District he frequently reiterates, are opposed to sharing their Right of Suffrage with negroes. That is to say! Those who now monopolize political power in the Federal District would like to retain their monopoly! Of course they would, did any possessors of a monopoly ever choose to give it up or share it with others? If the President's logic be sound, then farewell to hope of future political melioration. No aristocracy ever yet surrendered its exclusive privileges because it was weary of enjoying them. If the President reasons well, then John Bright & Co are pestilent demagogues, for "the people" who now vote in Great Britain do not want any extension of the franchise. They are perfectly willing to "let well enough alone". If Mr Johnson is open to a new engagement, the hard up British Tory Ministry now desperately clinging to their places would doubtless pay liberally. Even though no reason could be imagined for resisting further Reform, they would like a champion of hoary abuses who can persistently talk, even though he says nothing

There are 100,000 whites and 30 000 blacks, says Mr Johnson, in the Federal District. The former now enjoy a monopoly of political power, which most of them would gladly retain indefinitely. A minority of these, with all the 30,000, demand Impartial Suffrage. Congress accedes to the President repels the demand. Read him carefully, and judge if there might not be made a better argument against the Golden Rule itself

Mr Johnson thinks the District Blacks ought not to vote, because there are so many of them and likely to be more. These seem to us to be reasons why they should vote. If they were but a handful, and fast dying out, it might be plausibly urged that their voting or not voting was a matter of no moment

Mr Johnson fears that still more negroes will come into the District if their race is there enfranchised. This is a capital reason for establishing impartial suffrage throughout the land by Constitutional amendment. Then "niggers" would not be induced to crowd into the District in order to enjoy the right of suffrage. Thank you Mr President!

Congress may, he thinks, be led on to granting titles of nobility, and cutting up all conceivable didoes, if they shall be allowed to enfranchise the blacks! That is to say if allowed to do right, they may be led on to do wrong. Very good when they do let us pitch into them. But it would be hardly fair to forbid a boy to breathe since, were he allowed to breathe, he might possibly swear

The President suggests that, if the blacks are authorized to vote in the District, the people may fancy that they are to be enfranchised in the States as well! "Jes so" We trust they may

The President suggests that authorizing the blacks to vote is likely to engender a feeling of opposition and hatred between the two races, Hatred by whom? We go bail for the blacks that they will not thus misbehave because they are enfranchised. Will the whites? If they will, that fact affords an argument, not against enfranchising the blacks but in favor of disfranchising the whites. But we will not tamely submit to such groundless aspersions on the good sense and decency of our race. Mr Johnson being white himself ought not thus to defame his kinsmen. True, there are mean whites; but most of us know how to behave at an election. As to those who do not they must be impressively taught. We can't afford to have them disgracing themselves and us eternally

But the ballot box "says the President, "must be carefully guarded against the control of those who are corrupt in principle and enemies of free institutions"—which seems to be a fling at the late rebels. Perhaps that is so but we hate to strike a man when he is down. Many a secessionist of 1861 is a pretty good Unionist in 1867. Won't you allow a sinner to repent?

As to the President's long dissertation on the interdependence and respective functions of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial powers we infer that it was written on some other occasion and inserted here under a mistaken impression that the Veto Message was not already long enough. Though rather tame and tedious, it isn't very bad, save as utterly out of place. Let the President reclaim and save it for his next Message, or some other solemn occasion

Mr Johnson truly urges that the recently emancipated blacks lack education. We venture to suggest that the lively Southern custom of burning negro school houses might as well be intermitted or at least postponed. Enfranchise the blacks, and you make it every one's interest that they be educated. Prescribe that they shall only vote if well instructed and you offer fresh inducements to the burners of negro school houses. They seem not to need any

On the whole this seems the least plausible Veto Message we ever read. Can it have been intended to aid the measure of radical justice it seems to oppose and denounce?

EXCESSIVE REVENUE—The N Y Evening Post of a late date has the following which contradicts the arguments going to show that there is a falling off in Internal Revenue receipts for this year

"Advices from Washington show that we have raised over $175 000 000 from Internal Revenue in six months and a half which have elapsed since the commencement of the current fiscal year, July 1 1866. This gives an average weekly revenue from excise alone of nearly $6 300 000 or equal to a yearly aggregate of about $328 000 000 against the estimate of $285 000 000 for the whole year, made by Commissioner Rollins in his last annual report. It will be remembered that the official returns of the aggregate receipts from excises for each of the last fiscal years were as follows 1864, 117 145 748 52, 1865 211 129 529 17 1866, $310 906 984 1

MAGNITUDE OF LOWELL MANUFACTORIES—The Lowell corporations, with a united capital amounts to $13 900 000 employ the immense number of 400,705 spindles. Of the operatives employed 8 215 are women and 4,502 are men. The number of looms employed is 11 308, and 1 905,500 yards of goods of every kind are manufactured every week. The mills consume 604 000 pounds of cotton and 100,000 pounds of clean wool every week, or thirty one million pounds of cotton and six million pounds of wool per annum

A NEW ANÆSTHETIC—M Preterre a dentist of Paris states that after a considerable experience of the protoxide of nitrogen as an anæsthetic, he considers it a most precious agent. In one or two minutes at most a sufficient sleep is obtained to extract a tooth or to practice an operation of short duration. After awaking, the nausea, the loss of appetite the helplessness and the fatigue which ordinarily follow anæsthesia obtained by chloroform or ether, never occur

For the Oregonian

Teaching

There is a benefit in example, which cannot be secured from theory alone. Man is an imitator, and no class are more liable follow the forms impressed upon their minds than are teachers. We enter our first schools and at once recall how we were taught, and what we saw of others method of training. It is natural to follow in the same routine. Only leading and bold minds strike out new paths. As in mechanics wagons and ploughs from different shops look very much alike, so do our ordinary public schools. If teachers would improve themselves and acquire new methods let them not only discuss questions in Associations and Institutes, but visit as much as possible those schools taught by professional teachers

It would be profitable for the teachers in this county to visit each other's schools. Especially should those who are just beginning to teach, or who design to do so, visit the more permanent and better graded schools of the county, such as those of Portland. It would be well for District Committees and Clerks to visit our city schools

Almost every good teacher has some specialty in which he or she excels. One has perfect order with the least apparent effort, another is a most skillful and successful teacher of grammar, another makes arithmetic clear and pleasant to all the pupils, another makes reading a brilliant exercise, another makes geography a success through the school, another wisely teaches the child how to study. In every grade there is something to be learned in order to be accomplished instructors, and teachers may make themselves indebted to one another for numerous helps, by studying each others methods. Some have a fidgety kind of government in school—never satisfied unless they are correcting or commanding the pupils, Others are slack until some outbreak arouses them, and then they storm with passion. Some keep a steady rein and a watchful eye, and thus the days pass quietly. Good teaching is both a science to be studied and an art to be perfected. As lawyers desire to see how others manage cases and to hear their pleadings, and as other professional men strive to profit by their errors so should it be with teachers. No man can make a chair, or wagon, or engine, so well as he who works in the shop where these things are made. And, other things being equal, he fits himself to be the best teacher who makes himself most familiar with the ways of the best teachers,

FIVE YEARS AGO—Five years ago, some one hundred and more Union men of us were in the Knoxville jail, several of whom were very sick, stretched out upon the cold floor, half clad, and half fed, by a brute the rebels placed over them. We recollect very distinctly that two of the sick prisoners were Baptist ministers, Messrs. Pope and Cate, aged respectively seventy and eighty years! These men were thrust into that cold prison for adhering to the old flag. The Union ladies in and around Knoxville obtained leave from the commanding General to send in a Christmas dinner. The supply was abundant and sumptuous, and was most thankfully received. But another brute, acting as Confederate Attorney, whose sirname is John Crow Ramsey, went to work the next day to learn the names of the female contributors, with a view to their arrest! This low flung puppy, a compound of ignorance and malice, with the hardened cheek of impudence, is now walking these streets at his leisure, and asking these outraged people to patronize him as an attorney

By way of punishing the Union prisoners for eating this Christmas dinner, on the next day some twelve Confederate troops, lewd fellows of the baser sort, who had outraged all the decencies of life, were cast into our prison beastly drunk. These villains cursed us and blackguarded us, and the ladies who had furnished the dinner. Meanwhile, the sentinels out of doors fired their muskets into the windows, pretending they went off by accident. And with a view to aggravate us, rebel citizens would congregate around the jail on Sabbath—some of them members of the church—and they would grin, laugh, and show their approval of our incarceration! Some of us recollect the names and faces of these incarnate devils, and we intend to recollect them. Those who are made up of leniency, sympathy and kindness, can take those unmitigated rascals to their bosoms—we have no use for them, and intend to have no transactions with them. They developed their baseness when backed up by a drunken, corrupt and reckless army. Such were the doings of five years ago. Something of a change has come o'er the spirit of the dreams of a portion of these black hearted devils. The tables have been turned, and things are not as they were five years ago.—Brownlow's Whig

A HYMENIAL SELL—The Contra Costa Gazette relates the following in regard to the wiles of the fair sex .

From several reports received we infer that quite a ripple has been created upon the surface of every day affairs among our neighbors of the pleasant village of Clayton. As the matter is represented, it appears that one of the long time residents of the neighborhood, not satisfied with the life of single blessedness in which he walked nearly half a century, was captivated by the charms of a lady on a visit to the place from San Francisco and, modestly distrusting his own diplomatic qualifications, enlisted some lady friends to plead his cause with the charmer and to negotiate for his future happiness in wedlock's silken bonds. John anxiously waited the report of his envoys, and, as would be expected, was greatly elated on learning that their mission had been crowned with success. The time being fixed for Thursday evening of last week, a warm and universal interest in the event was manifested in the community. John being a lone bachelor and the lady a visitor, it appears to have been the plan to assume a sort of community sponsorship of the festal ceremonies. Accordingly the genial patron from whom the village takes its name opened his house for the occasion, and contributions of viands for the feast flowed in without stint from all quarters. The guests, young and old, were punctual to appointed time, the bride (that should have been) and bridegroom were in full wedding attire—the latter in high colored Kentucky jeans pants, new brogans and standing collar. As a preliminary to the more important service of the occasion, the wedding supper was disposed of with the usual relish and attendant pleasantries. The acting minister (Rev Mr H—) then announced his readiness to tie the nuptial knot, whereupon the bride (that should have been) arose and declared that since her engagement to John she had been informed that he was not of age, and she consequently had doubts of the propriety of consummating the engagement " The company however were willing to vouch for John's qualifications on the score of age, when, to their great surprise, the lady declared that she had been already married some three months to another man, whose likeness she presented for their inspection. It is said that the company, at this denouement were overtaken with a very uncomfortable impression that there had been an awful "sell played—our information does not enable us to determine whether John's female friends and envoys negotiated the "sell" or not, but the account we have represents that he was not by any means the only victim as the bride (that should have been) said they had no wedding feast when she was married, and thought this a good opportunity to get one

MOVEMENT OF THE NEGRO RACE TO THE WEST—One of the most frequent sights to be seen in the neighborhood of the Pontchartrain Railroad depot, says the New Orleans Crescent, is the number of negro immigrants every morning just arrived from Alabama, Georgia and other Eastern States on their way to Texas. Almost every steamer seems to bring over two or three hundred, not to speak of the arrivals from other directions. The Atlanta papers allude to the number that are continually passing through the railroad city, and it is obvious that the revolution of ideas in the negro mind is calling for some corresponding change in his habitation and previous manner of living

ALL DODGED—A celebrated French preacher, in a sermon upon the duty of wives said "I see in this congregation a woman who has been guilty of the sin of disobedience to her husband, and in order to point her out I will fling my breviary at her head " He lifted his book and every female head ducked

FRIDAY MORNING FEBRUARY 22 1867

The Oregon and California Trade

Ocean communication with San Francisco has always been a matter of the first moment to Portland and the Willamette valley. It is so to day and will continue so for years to come if not forever. The talk of a railway between here and California is, for the present, only talk. We must, therefore address ourselves to the facts before us, accept the state of things that actually exists, and accommodate ourselves to the circumstances we are in. At present Oregon is interested in having easy, rapid and cheap ocean communication with San Francisco.

From the Umpqua canyon in Oregon to the Sacramento valley, the cost of a railroad would be fabulous, and the support of it limited when compared with the cost of construction. From Portland to the canyon a railroad could be built at a comparatively small cost, while the business between these points would be considerable at the start, and increase rapidly every year.

It will not do for Oregon to rely on the occasional and fluctuating demands of the mining regions on our border for a market for our produce. These are both inadequate and uncertain. We must export to the Atlantic States, to Asia and to Europe, and to do this, we must be content for the present to put our products into San Francisco, the great depot of the Pacific coast.

In this view of the matter, it becomes the business men of Portland to exert themselves to establish permanent and cheap steam communication with San Francisco. It would be very desirable if possible, that one or two steamships in this trade should be owned here in whole or in part. It would give permanency and security to the export business, and deliver us measurably from the caprice and extortion of vessels owned elsewhere and not attached to our local interests.

For the past year the steam tonnage between here and San Francisco has been comparatively large, making freights and passage low. But this is an exceptional state of things. Three lines of ships have been competing for the control of our business, and it is not reasonable to expect that this competition will be permanent. When it is over, the successful party will naturally seek compensation for the past in high rates for the future. As the spring trade opens, we hear of changes made and to be made in the vessels of these lines. The Oriflamme and Pacific, side wheel steamships, are drawn off to go down the coast of Mexico and Southern California. The Ajax and Continental, screw steamers, take the place of these vessels for the present. The "Anchor Line" have their new ship, the Idaho, at San Francisco. She will soon be put upon the route to relieve her over-worked consort, the Montana. This leaves the Idaho, Montana, Ajax and Continental, all propellers, to carry on the competition between the three lines for the Portland trade this season.

In addition, there is lying in the bay of San Francisco, the steamship Oregonian. This vessel was built, in great part, by Portland capital. At present her owners decline to enter the competition, deeming the prices of freight and passage insufficient. From all accounts she is a splendid ship, and we are afraid if we lose this opportunity to secure a vessel for this trade, which shall be owned and controlled here, we shall regret it when it is too late.

Cheap and convenient access and transportation to and from Portland in all directions, should be the constant aim and study of every one interested in the business or property of the city.

Presidential.

A reconstructed newspaper in Maryland has nominated Gen. Grant for President in 1868, and Robert E Lee for Vice President. This ticket, we observe, has the quasi endorsement of the Oregon Herald. This is indeed surprising. Had the names been presented in reverse order, we should have expected to see the ticket supported by all orthodox Democratic journals, but as Grant is named for the principal office and Lee is insulted with the poor offer of the second place, it seems astonishing that the Herald should countenance the movement. These nominations in this order by Democratic journals, can be accounted for only on the supposition that in case of his election means would be found of getting rid of Grant so that the Presidency might devolve on that eminent Democrat, Robert E Lee. No, no, reconstructed friends, you can't play that game again. This little device to obtain another Democratic Administration won't win.

Some Copperheads are probably foolish enough to suppose that with this ticket they could win a victory. Of course Gen. Grant would never permit his name to be associated with such company, but supposing he should consent, and such a ticket should be put forth, it would be beaten out of sight. McClellan's defeat would be a glorious victory to such a discomfiture. The Northern States have a round half million majority to throw against any ticket which bears a name that was associated with the rebellion.

THE DARIEN CANAL.—The San Francisco Times learns that the Americans who landed at Panama a short time since with the intention of surveying a new route for a ship canal across the Isthmus, had returned to New York without attempting the work, satisfied that the representations of the persons who had induced them to come out were unreliable, and that a deception had been practiced upon them. These gentlemen were sent to the Isthmus by a company of wealthy capitalists at the East, who are prepared to take steps to secure the construction of the canal if a feasible route can be found. A few weeks ago Rear Admiral Davis of the National Observatory, in pursuance of a resolution of Congress, presented that body with a report on the subject. He thinks a route may be found, and gives a description of one, which, if as represented, would interpose but slight obstacles to the work. An appropriation was made at the last session for a further survey, and if necessary a larger one should be made this year, for the work is of such stupendous importance and so necessary to the commerce of the world, and particularly to the development of the Pacific coast, as to justify any expenditure which may be needed to secure its completion. In the tropical forests which cover the Isthmus great difficulties to exploration are encountered, and numerous parties have been forced to turn back, but by properly appointed expeditions they may be overcome, and if they prove too great for private enterprise, the nation's resources cannot be devoted to a better object.

The year of 1866 was an era of failure for France. She was compelled to abandon her claim to the Rhenish Provinces to relinquish her hold on Mexico, and to withdraw her expedition from Corea. Louis Napoleon is outliving his fame.

Seven Democrats in the House voted in favor of the act to impose a fine of $10 000 on any Judge who shall sell any negro into servitude. The late judicial slave sales in Maryland caused the passage of the act.

Several enormous aerolites fell in Spain during the grand meteorological exhibition. One of them was five feet in circumference, and intensely hot when discovered.

The receipts of the San Francisco theatres for the year 1866, as shown by the returns made to the Internal Revenue Department, amounted to $444,191.

A Washington dispatch says there is no truth whatever in the story telegraphed from there that the President has appointed David Dudley Field, minister to England.

The Great Snow Storm at the East

The New York Herald of January 21 t says

At [illegible] severe snow storm set in [illegible] the 20th ult at night and threatens still further complicate and increase the difficulties which attend travel by land and water. If snow had fallen to the depth of an inch at one o'clock this morning and the high wind which prevailed drifted it in many places to the depth of several feet. It overcame all efforts of the snow plows on the various roads to keep the track clear and travel [illegible] after midnight. The line of the Eighth avenue was so covered that at two cents [illegible] but the snow succeeded [illegible].

THE WEATHER ELSEWHERE.

CHARLESTON, Jan 20 —The snow is [illegible] feet deep and still falling [illegible] railroads are all blocked by the drifts

BOSTON Jan 20—11 P M —Snow has commenced falling [illegible] The railroads are now nearly all open and will resume their regular trips to-morrow

NORWICH Conn Jan 20 —The mercury is [illegible] Another snow storm set in at [illegible] last [illegible]

AUGUSTA, Jan [illegible] —The effects of the recent snow storm has been severely felt during the past few days over the greater portion of this section of the State. The hindrances placed in the way of travel by the storm [illegible] railroads as well as the ordinary delivery and forwarding of mail matter have been in many instances attended with serious results. Yesterday the letters due at this place from New York at 3 A M failed to arrive until [illegible]. Several of the turnpike roads are also blocked up with the snow drifts to such an extent as to render it extremely dangerous for conveyances of every description. From present appearances we are likely to be favored with additional supplies, as it has continued to snow from an early hour this morning.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan 20 —A driving snow storm commenced at 4 P M and still continues (8 P M). Wind blowing a gale from the north east.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan 20—Midnight —This storm is the most severe of the season. The snow is much drifted by the north east gale. The New York mails have not arrived up to this time.

ALLENTOWN Pa, Jan 20 —A heavy snow storm has prevailed here since 2 o'clock this afternoon. There are now six inches of snow on the ground.

BALTIMORE Jan 20 —A fierce and blinding snow storm set in this afternoon, and continues with the wind blowing a gale.

WASHINGTON, Jan 20 —A violent snow storm commenced here this afternoon at one o'clock, and the snow is still falling and drifting. The storm has all the appearance of continuing throughout the night. About ten inches has fallen up to the close of this despatch. Trains had much difficulty in getting off at the usual hours, and some were delayed several hours.

BUFFALO Jan 20—11 P M —It has been snowing heavily and drifting since eight o'clock this evening. The mercury is two degrees above zero. There are prospects of another railroad blockade.

CAIRO Jan 20 —The snow is four inches deep and still falling. No trains have arrived since last night. The mercury is twenty three degrees above zero.

WHEELING Va Jan 20 —A very heavy snow storm has been prevailing all day. Snow has fallen to the depth of twelve inches and now, at five P M, is unabated. The river was closed opposite the city on Saturday for the first time in ten years.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan 20 —A severe snow storm has been prevailing here last night and to day, which is said to be the heaviest in twenty years. The snow is fifteen inches deep and still snowing. It is feared that railroad travel will be interrupted for several days.

CLEVELAND Jan 20 —A very heavy snow storm has been prevailing here all day. Railroad travel will probably be seriously interrupted.

CHICAGO, Jan 20 —A driving snow storm commenced and continued at intervals all day. It is still snowing and drifting so badly that a blockade of the railroads is anticipated.

ST LOUIS, Jan 20 —The snow storms of yesterday still continue but not so violently. The storm has extended west of here, the snow being from six inches to a foot deep in Missouri and Kansas. About a foot has fallen here. The Eastern and Northern railroads are considerably obstructed, but interruption will only be temporary. The snow is two feet deep at Springfield, Ill.

Late Items by Telegraph.

HARRISBURG Feb 21 —Gov Geary has signed the joint resolution ratifying the Constitutional Amendment.

ST LOUIS Feb 13 —A resolution was brought before the Senate yesterday to amend the Constitution, by striking out the word 'white' wherever it occurs.

NEW YORK, Jan 14 —A Richmond special says there is a strong feeling of Radical Republicanism in the south western portion of the State, particularly in those counties bordering on North Carolina. In Carroll county an organization known as 'Red Strings' recently held a meeting at Hillsville, and were addressed by an ex-rebel officer. He proclaimed their affiliation with the Radical party of the North, denounced the present Legislature as disloyal, and advocated the adoption of the Constitutional Amendment. He was particularly severe on the President, who he said should be impeached before there could be any security for Union men. The meeting was very demonstrative in expression of loyalty to the present Congress.

Whipping in the Public Schools.

The following is a communication to a Boston paper, written by an old schoolmaster, in which reasons are urged in favor of giving authority to teachers over pupils in public schools. We give it as apropos to an article we published a few days ago on the same subject.

It appears by the Boston papers of the 20th ult., that the School Committee have ordered—"in substance that corporal punishment shall not be inflicted upon a scholar in a grammar or primary school without the consent and approval of the master of the district, which, in each individual case, must first be obtained."

This looks like an intention to abolish entirely corporal punishment in schools.

There was a discussion many years ago on this subject in Boston. It was thought that it was settled as a fixed fact that corporal punishment was necessary. That has been the general opinion of mankind since the creation.

The law says that the teacher is—"in loco parentis," that is, in the place of the parent. If the parent has a right to punish, the teacher has that right. What would be thought of a set of reformers who should undertake to deprive parents of the right to inflict reasonable corporal punishment upon their children?

We live in a fast age surely. No doubt the Puritans were too rigid in their discipline, but that is no good reason for our being as unreasonable in the opposite direction.

If teachers violate the law, let them be punished by the law.

If we have not teachers of good judgment, high character, and good education it is probably because the position of a teacher is made undesirable to such persons generally by the small pay, uncertain tenure of office, and unreasonable rules and regulations imposed upon them by school committees.

A school committee can turn out a teacher without giving any reason to anybody. They can refuse to employ a teacher because he or she has black or blue eyes, light or dark hair, or is above or below the medium height, or because he or she prays like the prophet Daniel, three times a day, or attends a different church from what the majority of the committee prefer. If the powers that be would make the position of a teacher a desirable one to a man who is fit to be a chief justice, they can have the person fit to fill it every time.

We hear nothing about the monstrous abuse of power of school committees, nor of the miserable policy which diminishes the respectability of the teacher's position, and renders it very disagreeable to those who possess the requisite qualifications for the business of teaching and governing a school.

Who would be judge in one of our courts if he must be supervised by a committee chosen at frequent intervals and having nothing to risk? It would ruin our courts, and it does ruin our schools, in the opinion of some.

Republican National Committee

The Republican National Committee met in Washington on the 18th of January. The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS The desertion by the President of those whose generous confidence placed him in his high trust has brought the National Union party in a new and untried position at a time of great peril to the Government, thereby calling for the exercise of the greatest vigilance, firmness and patriotism on the part of those who would uphold the principles and sustain the measures which have carried the country through the war. Therefore,

Resolved, That the Executive Committee be directed and authorized to make a thorough organization of the Union party, and especially in the so called seceded States, and for that purpose they may establish their headquarters in the city of New York, appoint a Secretary and such assistants as they may deem proper, and to take such other measures as may be necessary to give effect to this resolution.

Resolved, That the members of the Union party in every portion of the country be requested to correspond with this Committee by addressing its Chairman at the headquarters aforesaid giving information as to the state of affairs in their several localities with the general condition and requirements of the Union cause.

After appointing a National Executive Committee, composed of Marcus L Ward, New Jersey; S A Purviance, Pennsylvania; John B Clarke, New Hampshire; Wm Claflin, Massachusetts; H H Starkweather, Connecticut; A B Smithers, Delaware, and H W Hoffman, the body adjourned sine die.

The publishers of the Cincinnati Commercial recently purchased the manuscript of a new novel by Anthony Trollope to be published in the Sunday Commercial. They paid $10 000 for it. The New York Tribune has negotiated with Charles Dickens to furnish a novel for that paper for $25,000. The Tribune has also given Thomas Carlyle one hundred and fifty guineas in gold to write an essay to fill one page of the Tribune.

What vine reminds us of the number four? Ivy (IV).

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO FEBRUARY 19.

Congressional

WASHINGTON Feb 19 —The Senate [illegible] debate on motion [illegible] conference [illegible] bill.

Conness thought the bill [illegible] be interfered [illegible].

WASHINGTON Feb 19 —The Senate [illegible] a resolution offered by Sumner [illegible] whether he [illegible] the Secretary [illegible] provides for the safety of passengers on steamboats [illegible].

Wade of Ohio moved to [illegible] the House amendment [illegible] bill and agreed to a committee of conference.

Conness of California thought the bill too important to be referred to committee [illegible].

Wilson and Sumner of Massachusetts favored the concurrence [illegible] anything.

[illegible]

Sherman of Ohio [illegible] not acceptable [illegible].

Hendricks [illegible] conference.

Fessenden preferred the bill as it came from the House and was willing [illegible].

Trumbull did not regard the bill as it came from the House as [illegible] sufficient [illegible]. All that was wanted was the execution of the laws.

Sumner, of Massachusetts agreed that the difficulty arose from having a bad man in the executive chair.

Among those in the House [illegible] concur were Ashley of Nevada and Bidwell and McRuer of California. The noes included the Democrats and also Henderson of Oregon and Higby of California.

The Speaker appointed [illegible], Stevens and Blaine as committee of conference.

The House passed the Indian appropriation bill.

The House refused by a vote of [illegible] to 113 to take the bill providing for the organization of national militia.

The postal route bill passed.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on army appropriation bill, the total appropriations being $13 300 000.

A debate occurred on the section providing that the General in Chief shall have his headquarters at Washington and shall not be ordered elsewhere without consent of the Senate.

The Senate and House are holding evening sessions, to debate pending business.

Washington News

WASHINGTON, Feb 19 —The President has approved the bill authorizing the acceptance of League Island in the Delaware for a naval station, also the bill for the payment of prize money to the officers and men of the army and navy who served under Farragut at Mobile, also the postal appropriation bill containing an appropriation of $500,000 for mail service between San Francisco, Japan and China, and providing for the repeal of that portion of the act requiring the steamships to touch at the Sandwich Islands upon the express condition that the contractors enter into a contract satisfactory to the Postmaster General, agreeing to establish within five months from the passage of the act, in lieu of the service for which they are released, a branch line to Honolulu. The bill also appropriates $500 000 for overland and [illegible] mail service for California.

The President to day said he would not sign the pending reconstruction bill on account of the preamble.

The Government has turned Surratt over to the civil authorities. The Judiciary Committee will examine him upon the complicity of Jeff Davis in the assassination of Lincoln.

Miscellaneous.

NEW YORK, Feb 19 —The Fenians here are still sanguine of the success of a movement in Ireland. The latest discouraging news gives them but a slight shock.

NEW YORK, Feb 19 —A cable dispatch to the Pacific Mail Company from Hong Kong, via Galles Ceylon and London reports the arrival of the steamer Colorado at Yokohama Jan 22d and at Hong Kong on the 30th of January. She encountered unusually heavy weather between San Francisco and Yokohama. The mails on her were delivered in China in a shorter time by three or four days than the British overland mail, which is usually from fifty six to sixty days hence.

The Herald says the secret mission of Fred Seward and Admiral Porter was to purchase the Island of St Domingo, but on their arrival at Jamaica, it was found that several sailors had stolen the money bags and money, and it was ascertained that there was not enough cash on hand to pay President Cabral's price, and accordingly after a pleasure trip, the party returned home.

The famous ex rebel steamer Sumter, has been lost in the North Sea.

Flour is rather more active but unchanged. Wheat heavy and nominally at twelve cents lower.

CHICAGO Feb 19 —Another snow storm is prevailing to day. Six inches has fallen and is still snowing and drifting.

NEW YORK, Feb 19 —The French have fully evacuated the City of Mexico. Maximilian remains, wearing the Mexican uniform and guarded by 10,000 Imperial Mexican troops.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE

LONDON Feb 18—evening —The cause of the Fenian outbreak, is buried in obscurity. Some say it was caused by the arrest of the American Captain Moriarty; others that his prompt arrest alone prevented a general outbreak. The information first came through an anonymous note to the servant of Gov Kenmare, stating that the rising was planned in Killarney, and that the leaders would march from Cahirciveen last night. Constables were sent out until they met a wagon in which they found Moriarty, who was taken prisoner. In searching his person they found letters confirming the assertions of the note. A policeman named [illegible] was sent to Cahirciveen to warn the police. A party of rebels caught him and demanded the paper, which he refused to give up. He attempted to escape when they fired, badly wounding him. As far as known he was the only person hurt. The police got news of the trouble by another messenger and from spies among the Fenians. They were strengthened by detachments from the man of war Gladiator lying at Valentia, and saved the station from attack. One band of Fenians who got off unmolested had for their leader Col O'Connor. Another band stopped the mail from Killarney to Cahirciveen but did no violence to any one. In fact, nowhere has life been taken or property destroyed.

The Fenians plan was to attack Killarney and capture the place and then march to Cork, but the immediate despatch of troops from Cork to Killarney by General Bates, and the celerity of Colonel Howard's movement defeated the whole plot and caused the insurgent band to disperse. No armed men were captured. O'Connor and staff are said to have reached Fenian vessels in [illegible] Bay. Thirty four suspected persons were arrested in Dublin yesterday. Head-Centre [illegible] Morphy, Colonel Lower, Colonel Healy and Colonel Johnson have been arrested at Limerick. No papers were found on their persons or at their lodgings. The excitement is rapidly subsiding.

Five-twenties 73¾.

LONDON Feb 19 —John Bright denounces in strong terms the plan of reform prepared by Derby, and urges [illegible] by the masses.

A weekly telegraph express line is now opened to Teruiz in the Port of Tekin China. By this line the time of transmitting messages from London to Teruiz will be reduced to thirteen days.

By the arrival of the mail steamer from Rio Janeiro news has been received that the Brazilian fleet bombarded Curupata. The result is not stated. The whole fleet subsequently sailed for Humaita.

LONDON, Feb 19—evening —Consols 91 [illegible] 5 20s 73¼.

LIVERPOOL, Feb 19 —Breadstuffs firm. The Manchester market is dull and depressed.

PARIS Feb 19 —5 20s 83½.

FLORENCE, Feb 19 —Vigorous preparations are being made by all parties for the approaching election of a new Parliament. Much excitement is shown in the canvass throughout the kingdom.

FRANKFORT, Feb 19 —5 20s 77¼.

A farmer near Paris, C W, was threshing out his grain when the decomposed remains of two negroes were found and it was then remembered that two colored men who had been employed during the harvest had disappeared mysteriously, and when last seen were under the influence of liquor. They had probably laid down on the mow to sleep, and were accidentally smothered by other sheaves being thrown upon them.

NEW ARRANGEMENT.—THE OLD BUCHTEL & CARDWELL PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY 89 First Street has passed into the hands of JOSEPH BUCHTEL, Proprietor and Operator, who, having just returned from San Francisco, with ALL THE LATE IMPROVEMENTS is prepared to take every style of picture known to the art.

RAILROADS IN NEW YORK.—There are many schemes for a railroad in New York; among them is a steam railroad under ground. All the people in New York are in a quandary which railroad to favor; the people of Oregon favor KOHN & FISHEL with their custom, which they will always reciprocate by selling the best and most fashionable clothing, gents furnishing goods etc for the least money.

SUCCESSFUL BURGLARY—STOWELL CHAMBERLAIN & CO'S SAFE BLOWN OPEN AND ROBBED —Our town was startled on Friday morning by the discovery of a great burglary in the Banking Office of Messrs Stowell Chamberlain & Co. The safe was double [illegible] Lewis Lillie & Son of the latest style, [illegible] thousand pounds. The burglars obtained entrance to the office by prying open one of the windows with a jimmy. In the lower left hand door of the safe [illegible] through which was [illegible]. It was blown open, separating it entirely from the bolts and rendering [illegible]. The lower [illegible] of both [illegible] inside [illegible] the width and depth of the [illegible] of the inner safe. This [illegible] and a half inches [illegible]. They drilled another [illegible] through [illegible] both [illegible] bonds and [illegible] twenty five thousand dollars which they carried off [illegible]. They also took [illegible] belonging to the firm [illegible] and silver [illegible]. This safe was made to order by Mr Lillie [illegible] to be burglar proof [illegible] the other, with Lillie's combination lock [illegible] inside doors. No trace of the burglars has been discovered. They came well prepared with powder, drills, gunpowder &c. The clerk of the bank did not leave there until twelve o'clock at night. The explosion was heard about four in the morning, showing they were expeditious in their work.

ADVERTISING AND HOW TO DO IT.—Prof Eastman of the Poughkeepsie National Business College lately delivered an address on "Successful Advertising." The Professor is one of the few men who understand just how to do it, and as his remarks are as applicable here as anywhere in the world we transfer an outline synopsis of his address to our columns.

"Professor Eastman opened his lecture by saying that those who had been most generous in their advertising and thereby the most successful in business had been stigmatized as 'humbugs.' Was Barnum's Museum any the less worthy after he successfully advertised it? Was the Ledger any better before Bonner bought out one day's issue of the New York Herald than it was afterward? Was Stewart's store any less worthy of public patronage after paying $[illegible],000 per year for advertising when the payment of that $[illegible],000 gave $[illegible] in return? There is no such thing as humbug. A man is either a knave, quack, charlatan, or else he can be classed among business men as a man. We all advertise; churches, hotels, and all kinds of business are advertised. Churches advertise their work by their ministers preaching on 'Reconstruction,' 'Black Crook,' 'Washington,' etc., etc. The Metropolitan Hotel was advertised by its puddings. Every man who went to New York must go at least and take dinner at that hotel. The pudding was put on the table and it attracted the attention of guests, and was worth a hundred thousand dollars to that establishment. There are only four men in this country who thoroughly understand advertising as they are, Bonner, Barnum, Jay Cooke—the other he did not mention. All the large business houses in the country advertise largely and spend immense amounts of money for that purpose. The proper method of advertising could be given in four words. The principle contained in these four words was that which made men rich by its practice. There were thousands at that moment who were endeavoring to write a proper advertisement for the morning papers. The four words referred to were 'Fix it but not satisfy.' The public must not be satisfied until they bought your articles, and then if the articles were good (as they always ought to be) customers would come again. Be sure and please them, and their patronage will be yours. Whatever was advertised must be of the best quality. This was the case with the Paris [illegible]; this was the case with Barnum's Museum."

FRUIT IN SAN FRANCISCO.—From the Alta we clip the following, which is the latest quotations of fruit in the San Francisco retail market: Apples—Spitzenberg $2 75@3 ⅌ box, R I Greening $2@2 50 ⅌ box, Russet, $2 25@2 75 ⅌ box, Baldwin $2 25@2 75 ⅌ box, W W Pearmain $2 25@2 75 ⅌ box, Newtown Pippin, $2 50@3 ⅌ box, Swaar $2 25@2 50 ⅌ box, Vandevere $2@2 50 ⅌ box, Wine Sap, $2@2 50 ⅌ box, Golden Russet, $2@2 25 ⅌ box, Smith's Cider, $2 25@2 50 ⅌ box, Northern Spy, $2 25@2 50 ⅌ box. Easter Beurre Pears 8@12½c ⅌ lb, Oranges 60@75c ⅌ dozen, Limes 37½@50c ⅌ dozen, Lemons, 50c ⅌ dozen. During the week three steamers have arrived from Oregon, each bringing light shipments of apples—not enough in the aggregate to prevent a decided advance in prices. Fruit per Oriflamme and Montana arrived in fine condition.

ASSAULT WITH A WEAPON.—A young man named Bochard, or Brochart, was arrested yesterday afternoon for a dangerous assault upon Ada Phillips. He went to the house somewhat intoxicated and tried to raise a general row, whereupon Ada attempted to put him out. The chivalric young man struck her in the face and then drew a derringer from his pocket and presented it, cocked. The woman seized hold of it in such a manner that he could not fire it, and then called for help. A negro employed about the premises ran in, and the two together got the pistol away from him and then the negro ran for a policeman. Marshal Hoyt and Officer Branman ran up to the house, captured the fellow and lodged him in the county jail. Brochart came from San Francisco on the steamer Ajax. He will have an examination this morning.

CIRCUIT COURT—SHATTUCK JUDGE.—The following proceedings were had in this court, Thursday, Feb 21st:

State of Oregon vs Julian Ladrew, indicted for larceny of a pair of boots; testimony taken and submitted to jury.

C. M. Carter vs. Richard White, action to recover for [illegible] claim agent; verdict for plaintiff $3.50.

State of Oregon vs Louis Cassel, indicted for larceny of cigars from E F Schrader; sentenced to one year at hard labor in the penitentiary of the State.

Elizabeth Hunt vs Joseph T Hunt; divorce granted.

Henry Martin vs. Chauncey Hall; jury empanneled and argument set for Friday morning.

THE MONTANA.—The Montana has made her last trip here till she shall be overhauled and refitted. Upon her return to San Francisco she will be laid up for that purpose. It has not been determined yet what changes, if any, will be made in her cabins. That will depend somewhat upon the prospects for business. But she will be fitted up generally, at all events. Capt. Kelly and the other officers of the Montana have established for themselves an excellent reputation as genial gentlemen and for integrity, during the short time they have been running this port, and their retirement from this trade, even temporarily, will be regretted. We take this occasion to acknowledge the many obligations under which they have laid us at various times.

SOMETHING NEW.—Sam. Smith, the shrewd proprietor of the Western Hotel, returned from a short visit to San Francisco by the Montana, bringing with him a new [illegible] hotel coach, which is at once an elegant passenger carriage and convenient baggage wagon. It will comfortably seat nine persons and nobody knows how many trunks, band boxes and other etceteras can be piled on top and in the boot. It cost in San Francisco [illegible] a rather large outlay in the way of a hotel carriage, [illegible] then, the "Western" is getting to be a rather large [illegible] itself, and the new coach had become a necessity. Samuel was yesterday regaling some of his friends with a D H ride in it.

A BENEFIT TO GRAHAM.—Mr Graham, of the Tanner Troupe will take a complimentary benefit on Saturday night. All the regular members of the troupe and several volunteer performers will appear on that occasion. Mr Graham has labored very hard since his arrival here, to please his audiences and he has succeeded well enough to be quite flattering to one so young in the business. As his acting is entirely free from that disgusting vulgarity which is the bane of negro-minstrelsy, now-a-days, we take pleasure in bespeaking for his benefit, a rousing house.

LARGE SALE OF APPLES.—The S F Times of the 13th, says: "Considerable excitement existed yesterday among the fruit dealers on the wharves where the Oriflamme and Montana are moored. The occasion was the sale of cargoes of apples from these vessels to the amount of about six thousand boxes. Competition was so lively that prices ran up to $2 45 per box and from that down to $1 25." The San Francisco market must, from this on depend mostly on shipments from Oregon, and the prospect is fair for realizing profitably on the apples yet on hand.

COALS TO NEWCASTLE.—Carrying coals to Newcastle was never a more palpable violation of natural trade laws than bringing bacon to Oregon. Yet, by the Montana a large lot was shipped and yesterday landed on the wharf. Whether it was sent here expecting that the superior quality of California bacon would sell it, or whether it is Oregon bacon returned because it is not fit for market, we did not learn. Unfortunately the shabby manner in which our bacon is frequently put up for shipment, renders the one supposition about as probable as the other.

SUDDEN DEATH OF AN OREGONIAN.—The Alta of the 15th says: "Albert J Cutler, a carpenter by trade, aged 30, a native of Worcester, Massachusetts, who came from Oregon by the steamer which arrived on Saturday last, died suddenly at the Isthmus House on First street, yesterday. He had complained of being ill on the evening previous, but was not thought to be in a dangerous condition, and retired to his room without calling for a physician. He was alone when he died. The Coroner on examining the body, gave it as his opinion that deceased came to his death from apoplexy."

WHO IS IT?—Somebody has sent us from Eugene City three dollars for the WEEKLY OREGONIAN for one year, but failed to subscribe his name. The letter is dated Feb 15th. If the writer will forward us his name the paper will be sent. While speaking of this matter we will remind all, of the necessity of writing names carefully and of stating the post-office address in full. When a paper is to be changed to another post-office, the name of the office to which it has been going should also be stated.

A NEW BOOK.—We hear that an agent is canvassing some parts of the country for a new book, being got out by Mr. Cox, the late member of the Oregon House of Representatives, from Josephine county. Our authority states that the book is to contain the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, the Inaugural Addresses of most of the Presidents, Gen. Jackson's nine reasons for wishing not to be buried in an iron coffin, etc., etc. Price $3 50.

ROUGH WEATHER.—The steamboatmen from below represent that the late stormy weather has been the roughest of the winter, on the lower Columbia. For the last four or five days the strong winds blowing down the river have rendered it difficult at times to make headway against it and to land has been something of a ticklish job. The Fideliter and the Cosby were inside the bar at last accounts and the prevalent opinion is that they have not yet gone to sea.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—Arrived per Alert Thursday February 21st: 1,04[illegible] boxes apples, 7 sks sweet potatoes, 3 boxes eggs, 60 hf bbls produce, [illegible] cases lard, 1 keg, 3 cases and 2 bales woolen goods, 65 sks bacon, [illegible] sks feed, 1 lot hoop poles, 14 dressed hogs, 5 b[illegible], [illegible] sks wheat, 1 pkge furs, 1 pkge socks, 1 000 feet lumber.

THE WASHINGTON GUARDS BALL.—We learn that every thing is in train for a good time at the "Guards" ball to-night. The hall is already beautifully decorated, the music engaged is first rate and the managers are the right men in the right place. Everybody and his wife to say nothing of the single young people will be there.

THE "EXCHANGE."—Quimby is revolutionizing the Exchange Hotel and making it not only more convenient but more comfortable than formerly. We are glad to see "mine host" manifesting this kind of care for the traveling and boarding public, and hope that it may be properly appreciated.

THE NEW WORLD.—This steamer will take her departure from Portland this morning at [illegible] o'clock for Olympia via Victoria. We hope to hear in due time of her safe arrival on the Sound.

RECORDER'S COURT.—In the Recorder's Court yesterday the 21st, William Smith and —— Holland were up for disorderly conduct by fighting in the street. They were both discharged.

U S CIRCUIT COURT.—The S F Times of the 13th says Judge Deady opened the February term of the U S Circuit Court the day before.

THE BRONZE STATUE.—This screaming farce will be reproduced at the Willamette Theater, to-night together with a first rate bill of varieties.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.—To-day the 22d is the 135th anniversary of the birth of George Washington. As an appropriate recognition of the day we presume that all the flags of the city will be floated at topmast during the day.

CLOTHING.—Bar[illegible] Bros will [illegible] of [illegible] city [illegible] Store [illegible] Clothing [illegible] o'clock A M [illegible] P M [illegible].

THE LATE MASSACRE NEAR FORT PHIL. KEARNEY.—We are indebted, says the Alta, to C R L Ogden for the following particulars of the late terrible massacre near Fort Phil Kearney, derived from a letter from Major Van Voast dated Fort Laramie, December 31st:

* * * I have only time to write you a few lines as I am about to start with six Companies for the scene of the late terrible massacre. Five officers have already been killed and in this late affair every single one—over one hundred men—were killed, scalped and horribly butchered, not over four miles from Fort Phil Kearney; not one was left to tell the tale. We have now all kinds of rumors about C F Smith being cut off and destroyed. In the late affair Colonel Fetterman, Captain Brown, and Lieutenant Grummond, with one hundred men went out to protect the wood train, about two miles from the fort. They drove the Indians back about two miles when it appears some three thousand Indians surrounded them. Some officers and citizens who were trying to join Col Fetterman after the fight had commenced saw the state of affairs, and rushed back to the fort for assistance but before they arrived at the battle field (half past 2 P M) Col Fetterman and his whole party were killed. Col Fetterman, Capt Brown and Lieutenant Grummond left Phil Kearney at about 11 A M; before 2½ P M they, with their whole party, were scalped. The Indians are well armed and in the late war of some three or four years duration they have learned more than they suffered. Not much over one year ago they defeated 1,700 volunteers at the forks of Powder River. We will have the most terrible time getting there. The thermometer is now 20° below zero. There is precious little wood on the way, and if we should perchance have to fight both Indians and cold weather, we may get the worst of it."

HOW TO DEAL WITH THE UNRECONSTRUCTED.—The upshot of the whole matter is that the Government must deal with these instigators and leaders. It must strike them in such a way as to deprive them of all influence. The great body of our people are disposed to submit in good faith to the Government, and to accept the Union on the terms laid down by the majority, and they would do so but for these wicked instigators and leaders. Let Congress deal with them. Let it strike them down both as a measure of security for the future and of just punishment for their crimes. Let this be done in an act to reorganize our State Governments on a loyal basis, and the loyal people of these Southern States, once in possession of supreme power over these traitors, will answer for it that they will no more disturb the public peace or inflame the people against the Government. This is all the loyal people of the South ask. Pass Mr Stevens' bill, and they will take care of the secessionists, latter day war men and traitors of all kinds. They will not torture or shoot, or hang them, or malign and persecute them, as did the Unionists during the rebellion, but they will make them know their places, and will see to it that they never obtain power again over this people, whom they have ruined by their folly, selfishness and wicked ambition.—Raleigh (N C) Standard.

The Graefenberg Company's Uterine CATHOLICON does not contain one particle of calomel or mercury, and cases of Female Complaints which require other treatment than the Catholicon are extremely rare. It should be used in all cases of Deranged Monthly Periods, Weakness, Irregular Appetite, Nervousness, Headache, Disturbed Sleep, Acid Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion and Pains and Difficulties connected with the Uterine Organs.
THE UTERINE CATHOLICON
Is a most successful remedy for Gravel and all affections of the Kidneys and Bladder while in the troublesome symptoms attending Pregnancy the benefits of the Catholicon are most remarkable. It is a perfect restorer to functional and general health from budding womanhood to the turn of life, and those patients who have used the GRAEFENBERG COMPANY'S UTERINE CATHOLICON find difficulty in expressing their thankfulness for the beneficial effects of this wonderful medicine.

The Chess Board

My little love, do you remember
Ere we were grown so sadly wise
Those evenings in the bleak December
Curtained warm from the snowy weather,
When you and I played chess together
Checkmated by each other's eyes?

Ah, still I see your soft white hand
Hovering warm o'er queen and knight
Brave pawns in valiant battle stand
The double castles guard the wings,
The bishop, bent on distant things,
Moves sidling through the fight

Our fingers touch, our glances meet
And falter; falls your golden hair
Against my cheek, your bosom sweet
Is heaving. Down the field your queen
Rides slow her soldiery between
And checks me unaware

Ah me! the little battle's done
Dispersed is all its chivalry
Full many a move, since then, have we
'Mid life's perplexing checkers made,
And many a game with fortune played—
What is it we have won?

This, this at least—if this alone—
That never, never, nevermore
As in those old still nights of yore,
(Ere we were grown so sadly wise),
Can you and I shut out the skies
Shut out the world and wintry weather,
And eyes exchanging warmth with eyes
Play chess as then we played together!

The Shakers

The Society called "Shakers," originated in England, in 1770, but they are now chiefly confined to the United States, where they have 12 churches, with 5,200 adherents in 1860. Of these churches, one is at Alfred and one at New Gloucester, in Maine; one each at Enfield and Canterbury, New Hampshire, one at Harvard, and another in Berkshire county, in this State, and three each in the States of New York and Ohio. The Shakers are an offshoot from the society called Friends. In 1747 a company of Quakers, of whom Ann Lee was an adherent, formed a distinct association, and became remarkable for great physical manifestations of spiritual illumination.

They were charged with disturbing the Sabbath and Ann Lee was imprisoned. In 1770, Ann professed to have received special revelations, in virtue of which, her followers have since called her Mother Ann, and have regarded her as "a person inspired by Christ, of the female order." In 1774 Mother Ann and ten followers emigrated to America, and settled seven miles from Albany, New York, and in 1779 a violent religious excitement increased her converts greatly, and Mother Ann instituted the Shaker family, as now existing. Between 1787 and 1792, eleven Shaker settlements were made, and since that time three additional churches have been organized. Generally, two or three families of from fifty to three hundred persons each, live near together.

Everywhere their gardens are models of neatness, like everything else about them. A large dwelling house, divided through the centre by wide halls, is erected for each family, the males occupying one end and the females the other. They have one excellent notion—that idleness is a sin. In their extensive gardens they raise nearly all kinds of seeds, flowers, herbs, fruits extracts and condiments, and they are especially famous for their ketchup and their apple sauce. They are fond of fat cattle and handsome horses, and each community has a school for the education of the children they adopt.

They believe in spiritual manifestation and manifest their inspiration in a most signal physical manner. They have a ministry composed of two brethren and two sisters who have the oversight of one or more societies, and each family in every society has four elders, two brethren and two sisters who have charge of the family. The temporalities of each family are cared for by two deacons and two deaconesses. Their property is held in common, and the members of the Society are not permitted to marry.

The Shakers hold that God is dual, there being in the Deity an Eternal Father and mother, the heavenly parents of man, and that the revelation of God is progressive; that God was first known as a great spirit, then in Christ as a father, and lastly in Mother Ann as Mother.

The doctrines of non-resistance, non-participation in earthly government and celibacy they claim to receive from Christ. The second appearing of Christ was the appearance of Mother Lee. They believe in the existence of four heavens and four hells, the first three of which are places of probation. The good Shakers will all go to the 4th heaven as well as all others in the lower heavens who recant and become good Shakers. When the penitents are restored to the 4th heaven the other heavens and hells and the earth will be destroyed, and there will be one Heaven for the pious and one hell for the impious.

Spiritualism has encouraged the Shakers to hope for abundant accessions to their ranks, but in this hope they have been disappointed, and their growth is very slow. But "it is a fact worthy of note that they are the only people on this continent, if not in the world, who have maintained for more than seventy years a system of living, one of the fundamental principles of which is a community of property."

WINTER SCENES IN MONTREAL.—The inconveniences occasioned by the ice jam in the St Lawrence, at Montreal, are well described by a correspondent of the Boston Journal, who writes as follows, under date of the 12th:

"Thoreau might well have devoted a week of observation to the St. Lawrence, for, whether in winter or summer, it has many curious habits. In summer, at ordinary times, no one would suspect that the cellars along the banks were in any danger, and yet twice a year, spring and winter, all goods along certain streets must be removed from the basement story, and sometimes respectable merchants have paddled to their places of business in a canoe. The Royal Insurance Buildings were constructed at great expense in order to make the cellars water tight, and yet a steam pump has been in operation some days to 'dry up the concern.' The ice shove which has just taken place generally occurs about twice before the river is finally frozen over. It is in this wise. The ice which forms in the first of the season upon the Ottawa and other tributaries comes floating down, catches along the basin and shores, and accumulates to such a degree as to dam up the water in various places. Then the river rises in the attempt to force a passage, and the great dam is shoved along. For miles the ice is upheaved in the most rough and Titanic forms. Just here at Montreal it is piled along for several miles at the edge of the river street, having come up all over the wharfs. Thousands on thousands of tons are lying here, some of it in cakes of a foot in thickness, and of all sizes and dimensions. When the ice finally sets, and of this the initiated seem to know at once, the laborers begin to make their road. At best, however, it is a rough one, and before spring the narrow county sleds cut up the snow that falls upon it into 'thank you, marms,' expressively called 'capoes,' of profound depth. This road is used until the very latest period in the spring, and as the breaking up is sudden and violent, they take boats across, so as to be caught floating."

A MEETING AT SEA.—There are many eloquent passages in the Memoirs of Chateaubriand. Witness the following:

On these vast paths of the deep, along which are seen neither trees nor villages, nor cities, nor towns, nor spires, nor tombs—on this causeway without columns, without mile stones, which has no boundaries but the wave, or relays but the winds, no light but the stars—the most delightful adventure, when one is not in quest of lands and seas unknown, is the meeting of two vessels. The mutual discovery takes place along the horizon by the help of a telescope; then they make all sail towards each other. The crew and passengers upon deck. The two ships approach, hoist their flags, brace up their sail, and lay themselves alongside each other. All is silent, the two captains, from the poop, hail each other with speaking trumpets, the name of the vessel, from what port; the name of the captain, where from, where he is bound for, how many days his passage has lasted, and what are his observations on the longitude and latitude. These are the questions. "Good voyage." The sails are unbraced and belly in the wind. The sailors and passengers of the two vessels follow each other with their eyes without saying a word, these going to seek the sun of Asia, those the sun of Europe, which will equally see them die. Time carries away and separates travelers upon the earth more promptly than the wind separates travelers upon the ocean. They also make signs of adieu from afar—good voyage—the common port is Eternity.

"Husband, I wish you could buy me some feathers."

"Indeed, dear wife, you look better without them."

"Oh, no sir, you always call me your little bird, and how does a bird look without feathers?"

It appears that in New York city there are 407 553 native born inhabitants, of whom 51 000 or one eighth, (exactly 1 in 7 91,) are voters, and there are 313 830 foreign born inhabitants, of whom 78,475, or one in four, (exactly 1 in 4 11) are voters.

An honest Vermont Democrat, in a recent earnest conversation relative to the faults of President Johnson, candidly admitted that one of his greatest mistakes was the appointing of "that fool, the Rev. P. V. Nasby, to office."

Wit and Humor

An impudent tree—The saucy-fras.

Can a horse be called mettle-some when he is led?

A great many more vessels sink on the rivers than on the seas. Every day we see them "going down."

Why is a restless sleeper like the proverbial liar? Because he lies on one side and turns and lies on the other.

When is a train of cars in danger of running over an old man with a scythe in his hand? When it is behind Time.

"Isn't there an awfully strong smell of pigs in the air?" asked Smith of Jones. "Yes," replied Jones, "that's because the wind is the sow-west."

The Springfield Republican tells of a horse which ran away in that city, "throwing the driver out and cutting a severe gash in one of his hind legs."

The Cincinnatians needn't boast so much about their suspension. The Scripture gives account of a man who was six cubits longer than that bridge—namely Goliath, who was six cubits and a span.

Mrs. Roxanna Dwight was recently fined one cent and costs at Providence, for striking Ellen Curtis in the face, because she put her arms around Mr. Dwight's neck and asked him to go to the theatre with her.

Joshua Hill of Georgia, a Southern loyalist of a comparatively mild type, wants an appropriation from Congress for his property, destroyed by Federal soldiers in spite of his safeguards from the Federal generals.

A manufacturing establishment in Erie, Pennsylvania, has purchased one of the abandoned oil holes, and is abundantly supplied with gas for lighting and heating purposes, and with a large surplus to spare.

"Bridget," said a mistress to her Irish servant, "where's the gridiron?" "An' sure, ma'am, I'se jist after giving it to my sister's own cousin Bridget O'Flaherty, the thing is so full of holes it's no good at all."

Owing to the state of the markets most of the mills in Lawrence will reduce operations from ten to twenty-five per cent on February 1, which will be the means of throwing several hundred operatives out of employment.

A French general, well known in English circles, who had the misfortune to be bald headed, said that he wished to make a present to a lady and give her something rare. "Give her a lock of your hair," said a friend.

"Mr Jones," said Mrs. J., with an air of triumph, "don't you think marriage is a means of grace?" "Well, yes," growled Jones, "I suppose anything is a means of grace that breaks down pride and leads to repentance!"

The Alexandria (La.) Democrat, of the 9th, records the arrival at that place of Raphael Semmes. He was in excellent health, and had entered upon the discharge of his duties as Professor of Moral Philosophy in the State Seminary.

"Madame," said a gentleman to his wife, who was vainly importuning him for money to go shopping with, "let me tell you, facts are stubborn things." "You don't say so," said the lady; "why, what a fact you must be."

I pressed her gentle form to me, and whispered in her ear, if, when I was far, far away, she'd drop for me a tear. I paused for some cheering words, my throbbing heart to cool, and with her rosy lips she said, "Oh, Ike, you're sich a fool!"

Dumas, the younger, sat at one of the representations of "Rodogune," by Mlle Georges. "I do not like to see an old woman die," said one of the spectators. "Especially when death is not real," remarked the witty Dumas as quick as light.

At Meadville, Pennsylvania, on the 14th ult., the police made a descent upon a gambling house, and found fifteen or twenty respectable citizens betting their pile. A general stampede was made for the doors and windows, and most of them escaped.

A reporter, hunting up items in Nashville, a few nights ago, was chased by two policemen, who mistook him for a burglar. He eluded capture by getting up a tree on the dark side of the street, and remaining there until the policemen went by.

An hotel keeper in Washington once posted on his dining-room door the following notice: "Members of Congress will go to the table first, and then the gentlemen. Rowdies and blackguards must not mix with the Congressmen, as it is hard to tell one from the other."

A Miss Mitchell, of Flint, Michigan, eighteen years of age, was seized on the street one night recently, by a man and woman, and forced to swallow a dose of arsenic. She now lies in a very critical condition. It is supposed that jealousy was the cause of the singular outrage.

A German named Andrew Aetzler was killed on the 17th ult., at Newark Station, near Rochester, as he was crossing the railroad track. He was watching the train coming from the west, and did not notice the one from the east, which struck him. His head was cut off, and one of his hands.

A farmer near Newark, N. J., was waited upon by a respectable looking gentleman, lately, who said he had come to pay for a basket of apples which he had taken from the orchard when a boy, sixteen years previously. He insisted upon paying not only the original value, but the interest.

At Jackson, La., recently, a child was seized by a catamount, and terribly lacerated before it could be rescued by its mother. The same catamount afterward attacked a boy upon a mule, and also attacked an emigrant wagon, the inmates of which shot it dead. It measured nearly six feet in length.

We do not believe in spiritualism or magic (except sleight of hand and so-forth) but what are we to say to such a fact as this: "The other day a veracious witness actually saw a young man turn into a public house!" Transformation extraordinary! Further evidence will be forthcoming shortly.

Dean Alford has been lecturing in England against the anonymous character of newspapers, and somebody pertinently asks him if he won't be good enough to tell who wrote the Epistle to the Hebrews, and if the "anonymous character" of this production affects the estimate the Dean puts upon its value.

The Mechanics Institute of Chicago, Illinois, at a recent meeting, passed resolutions setting forth the advantages to be derived from the establishment of a polytechnic college in that city, and asking the State Legislature to pass a bill establishing the same and appropriating half the land grant of Congress to its support.

Two pack peddlers entered the house of John Lerch in Memphis, recently, spread their packs, and when the family gathered around, opened a shawl so saturated with chloroform as to throw the whole family into a state of insensibility. The peddlers then robbed the house of money and valuables to the amount of $150, and made good their escape.

A committee which has been raising money in Texas for the purchase of a homestead for the rebel General Hood, has received a letter from him requesting them to turn the entire proceeds over for the benefit of the church. He thanked them for their kindness, but says he can earn his own bread by his own industry, and that he intends to do so while his health and strength permit.

Mrs. A. F. Whistenhaunt, of South Carolina, visited Mobile to see her mother. The boat reached the wharf in the night. The lady was heard singing to her little children in her state-room about two hours before day, and at daylight the little ones were in the cabin crying for their mother. When it was discovered that she had mysteriously disappeared. Having been subject to slight fits of derangement it is supposed that she drowned herself in the river.

The Rev. Dr. B——, once asked a boy with reference to the blessed Trinity, "How many persons were there?" As the boy was greatly noted for stupidity, the Doctor was delightfully surprised to be correctly answered—"Three." Now it so happened that three prominent members of the church, bearing the name of Pers-n, lived near the church, and to them the precocious boy supposed the Doctor referred. Imagine, then, the Doctor's horror when he asked, "What are their names?" "Jake, Henry and Mose!"

Mrs. Partington sometimes gets things mixed up, but in regard to marriage her ideas are tolerably clear, and she is, we are happy to see, "sensible to the last." "If ever I'm married," said Ike, looking up from the book he was reading, and kicking the door too energetically—"if ever I'm married"—"Don't speak of marriage, Isaac, till you are old enough to understand the bonds that binds congenial souls. People mustn't speak of marriage with impurity. It is the first thing children think of now a days, and young boys in pianofores and young girls with heads frizzened into spittoon curls, and full of love sick stories, are talking of marriage before they get into their teens. Think of such ones getting married! Yet there's Mr. Spaid, when heaven took his wife away, went right to a young lady's cemetery and got another, no more fit to be the head of a family than I am to be the Board of Mayor and Alderman." She tapped the snuff box that her friend the colonel had given her, with her eyes resting upon the gold heart inlaid in the centre of the lid, as if hearts were trumps in her mind at the time, while Ike, without finishing his sentence, kept on with his reading, accompanying himself with a pedal performance on the stove door, and a clatter upon the round of his chair with the handle of a fork in his hand.

A RUMMY AFFAIR.—A singular orgie took place in England last month at New Brighton, a town on the Mersey. A brig laden with rum went to pieces, and the casks floated towards shore. The populace crowded down to share the plunder, and the account says: "Servants and married women were of the number. The crowd got hold of cask after cask, which they speedily broached, and then they began to drink the raw rum, and it also [illegible] with fierce gusto. Several of the puncheons washed ashore were turned on end, the heads knocked out in the centre, [illegible] others were pierced and sucked at in turn by the maddened savages. The consequence of the furious debauch soon appeared in staggering of helpless groups, blind with intoxication, yelling and cursing until they fell apparently blind in the sand or were dragged by the heels out of the surf into places of safety. One young man guzzled the liquid until he fell down and died without any return of consciousness; another, after a maniacal draft of it, tumbled head foremost into a pool among the rocks, and was well nigh drowned before he was taken out. A painter poured the paint from his pot, wiped it with grass and drank the raw rum until he wallowed insensible on the sea beach. A number of servant girls and married women who went down to the beach to see the wreck, which had been and was washing ashore, were prevailed upon to taste the rum. The consequences can be conjectured. Numbers of the females sank into a state of insensibility, and were subjected to the greatest indignities. One young woman, very well connected, in company with a more elderly female, was prevailed upon to take some of the raw spirit, and she like many others was treated with the greatest violence, having been attacked by three ruffians. She was discovered at a late hour last night, lying in the sand hills, quite unconscious, and taken to her home by the police."

HOW THE ENGLISH REGARD IRELAND.—An English nobleman who visited Ireland, in a recent speech said he regarded the whole Fenian movement as an attempt to fleece as many people as possible, and as a huge swindle. He found that there are from 23,000 to 24,000 soldiers in the country, most of them supplied with breech-loaders, which made them equal to an army of 50,000 supplied with inferior arms. These troops are commanded by one of the best generals in the service, and they had round the coast a large number of ships of war commanded by one of the best of the admirals.

Besides this there were 14,000 constabulary and other police, so vigilant that he was often astonished at the way they looked at him when traveling, and a friend of his was lately so watched because he wore a slouched hat, that he had serious thoughts of giving himself up. If they added the militia and the coastguard, there would be 50,000 available men in Ireland, and the forces in England were ready to aid the forces in Ireland. It was, therefore, he said, the greatest possible farce to talk of these Fenians. They have no arms, no cavalry, no artillery. The government was ready to crush them, and they are disheartened and are going away as fast as vessels can take them, finding the place too hot for them.

SOBER FOR ONCE.—A correspondent has a good anecdote of a man who rarely failed to go to bed intoxicated, and disturb his wife the whole night. Upon his being charged by a friend that he never went to bed sober, he indignantly denied it, and gave the incidents of one particular night in proof.

"Pretty soon after I got into bed, my wife said 'Why, husband, what is the matter with you? You act strangely.'

"'There is nothing the matter with me,' said I, 'nothing at all.'

"'I'm sure there is,' said she, 'you don't act natural at all. Shan't I get up and get something for you?'

"And she got up, lit a candle, and came to the bedside to look at me, shading the light with her hand.

"'I knew there was something strange about you,' said she, 'why, you are sober.'

"Now, this is a fact, and my wife will swear to it, so don't you slander me any more by saying I haven't been to bed sober in six months, because I have."

A young bachelor, who had been appointed Deputy Sheriff, was called upon to serve an attachment against a beautiful widow. He accordingly waited upon her, and said:

"Madam, I have an attachment for you."

The widow blushed, and said she was happy to inform him his attachment was reciprocated.

"You do not understand me. You must proceed to court."

"I know it is leap year, sir, but I prefer you would do the courting."

"Mrs. P——, this is no time for trifling, the justice is waiting."

"The justice! why, I should prefer a parson."

DR. HENLEY'S

Fountain of Life!

GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER!

IN EVERY PROGRESSIVE SCIENCE PERIODS ARRIVE when a new direction is imparted to its course. These epochs proceed from discovery of new facts shedding a light which changes the whole aspect of the science. The present is an epoch of this kind, and this Great Remedy, now offered to the public in connection with the theory on which it is based, is destined to effect an entire revolution in the treatment of the diseases of

by eradicating the disease entirely from the blood. The FOUNTAIN OF LIFE is composed entirely of vegetable extracts. It contains no Mercury or other mineral substance.

The Proprietor and Discoverer of this Sovereign Remedy CHALLENGES THE WORLD to furnish anything from the days of Æsculapius down to the present time, in the arcana of Medical Science, which can vie with or excel the intrinsic properties of this Great Blood Purifier. Its value has been tested with the happiest effect in the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians in the world. No matter what form the dreadful disease of SCROFULA and KING'S EVIL may have assumed, it can in no way be more safely and certainly arrested in its progress than by HENLEY'S GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER. Thousands have been swept into their graves, who had they made a timely use of the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE might now be enjoying the blessings of life and health. It requires an article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself. During the stern ordeal of public experiment the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE has stood the test trial, and not been found wanting.

☞ Dr. HENLEY guarantees to CURE any case of SCROFULA or KING'S EVIL in the world and eradicate the disease entirely from the system, or no charge made—provided they will secure him his pay when they are cured.

FOR REFERENCE:

I would refer you to L. L. Peck, of Portland Oregon, and numbers of others, as to what a miraculous effect it had in a short time, in cases that had baffled the skill of physicians for years.

DISEASES OF THE EYES

to call at his office and be at once restored. Surgical operations SKILFULLY performed on the EYES for film, cataract, strabismus or cross eyes.

Below are some of the many testimonials:

This is to certify that I, John B. Jodwan, was blind for over nine years, and I tried all means of a cure, and and many doctors, and all of no effect, and I spent all the means I had. Finally, I had to become a county charge, and when I was taken to Dr. G. W. Brown, and stated my case to him, and misfortune, he at once commenced to treat my eyes, and now I am well, and can commend all those that are suffering with diseases of the eyes to call on Dr. G. W. Brown. The reason why I do this is to let suffering humanity know where they can be cured.

SATURDAY, Feb. 10, 1866
This is to certify that my daughter was almost blind for over seven years, and was doctored by other physicians without obtaining any relief, when finally I took her to Dr. G. W. Brown, who examined her case and at once began to give her treatment, and her sight has been entirely restored. I do this to let those who are suffering with diseases of the eyes know where they can obtain a cure. It has been three years since her eyes were cured and they are yet sound.
THOMAS LIVINGSTON,
Deer Creek Precinct, Douglas county, Oregon.

SALEM, July 21, 1866
This is to certify that I was blind for over four months and almost blind for one year and a half, I tried several eye doctors but received no benefit. I had almost given my case up as hopeless when fortunately I heard of Dr. G. W. Brown, now of Salem. I was induced to try him, he performed a surgical operation on my eyes, and gave me treatment. I soon began to recover, and in a short time I was perfectly cured. I do this in justice to one who rescued me from a fate worse than death, and also for the benefit of those who are laboring under similar afflictions that they may know where they can get relief. It is now about eight months since my eyes were cured and they still remain good. I can see to read the finest print without difficulty, and my eyes can bear the strongest light without pain.

GOOD GRUB AND PLENTY OF IT!

AT THE

Bennett House,

SALEM OREGON.

L. JAY S. TURNEY,

HAVING LEASED THE ABOVE NAMED HOTEL, is prepared to accommodate the traveling public, and one hundred regular boarders, in as good style as any House on the Coast. He has determined to make the "Bennett" as good as the best and better than any public house in Salem. He will soon complete some important improvements, which will add greatly to its appearance and comfort, and intends to merit and hopes to receive his share of patronage.

He has secured the services of "Charley" (known to be the best cook in Salem, and one of the best in the whole country) and other competent persons to manage the culinary department, and is resolved to set as good a table as can be found anywhere—not in clap-trap, pomp and show, flummery and fine furniture, but in an abundant supply of the very best the market affords.

His Bar room will be kept warmed and lighted, and well supplied with newspapers, periodicals and other suitable reading matter, and kept in a manner which will make it an agreeable resort.

In short he intends making an effort to please ALL who stop at the BENNETT HOUSE. And he most respectfully requests his friends everywhere to give the old and well known stand at least one more trial before concluding they can do as well elsewhere, and promises if they are not well treated and properly cared for, and at reasonable figures, it will not be the fault of the public's most obedient and most humble servant.
L. JAY S. TURNEY.

N. B.—Furnished rooms, with or without board, by the day, week or month, at the Bennett, charges moderate.

Nucleus Hotel.

THE UNDERSIGNED BEG TO ANNOUNCE TO their friends and the public that they have opened that large and commodious first-class house known as the situated on the corner of Market and Third streets, San Francisco. The house is supplied with all the modern improvements necessary to constitute a first class House—Hot and Cold Water Baths, &c., throughout—and is surpassed by no first class house in this city. Situated in a prominent portion of the city it affords an unequalled view of the bay, the city, and its surroundings. The well known reputation of the proprietors will be sufficient guarantee that the table will be supplied with all the delicacies of the season that the market affords. We feel confident of being able to give satisfaction to all who may favor us with their patronage.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a [illegible] ence from the effects of secret indulgences, [illegible] absorbed into the system! Look at their palli[illegible] ted and disfigured faces and their broken-down [illegible] tions, disqualifying them for the happiness of [illegible] or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid st[illegible] sands suffer until death closes the scene. Let [illegible] guardians, friends attend to those who are su[illegible] any of these horrible life-destroying maladies [illegible] they are cared for and cured before it be too late [illegible] them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician [illegible] made private disease his especial study for years, [illegible] is certain to cure the most inveterate cases of [illegible] cury or any injurious drugs. It is important [illegible] who are afflicted, unto those who are interested [illegible] welfare of their friends, to be careful of the [illegible] tended doctors who infest all cities, publishing [illegible] in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing [illegible] public by using the names of eminent phy[illegible] Europe and other places. Be therefore careful [illegible] strict inquiry, or you may fall into the [illegible] charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self ab[illegible] solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is [illegible] by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimi[illegible] producing, with unerring certainty, the follo[illegible] of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by [illegible] ical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark [illegible] the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, [illegible] the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, [illegible] blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence [illegible] preaching strangers, a dislike to form new acqua[illegible] a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, [illegible] flushes, pimples and various eruptions about [illegible] furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consum[illegible] sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If [illegible] not obtained, should apply immediately, either [illegible] or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new [illegible] entific mode of treating this disease, which never [illegible] effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give [illegible] Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove sat[illegible] rily to him that he was cured of this complaint by [illegible] of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give [illegible] patient a written instrument, binding himself to [illegible] radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HO[illegible] addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, [illegible] toms, length of time the disease has continued, an[illegible] medicines promptly forwarded, free from dam[illegible] curiosity, to any part of the country, with full an[illegible] directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in regist[illegible] ter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.
